To my clients:

I am entering into a collaborative consultation and training group this year with Dr. Jeanne Lichman to explore the process of psychodynamic theory and technique more deeply. Dr. Lichman and I have been talking about this for several months, and I believe that my clients and I will greatly benefit from this process. I envision working with Dr. Lichman for several years.

During our weekly consultations, we will be discussing cases in a very thorough way. This means that I will be disclosing personal information about you in the interests of enhancing my skills as an effective therapist. I also want to give Dr. Lichman permission to call you if she needs any further clarification about clinical issues.

If you have any questions about this, please discuss them me. Please sign below to give your consent to these disclosures.
